Larry A. Williamson

Full-stack Developer, Creative and Technology Generalist

L422Y@L422Y.COM · NEW YORK, NEW YORK

I was ten years of age when first introduced to Windows Terminal, a 2400 baud modem and how to connect to another computer over a phone line. This was the point in my life where I became a almost obsessed with anything technology related. Then came graphic design and advertising. I wanted to make cool things, regardless of the process.

Twenty five years later – twenty of those consisting of professional, hands-on experience – and my passion is as strong as ever. From the moment I connected to my first BBS, I knew what I wanted to do, and that computers were going to change everything. I have been involved in hundreds of projects since my early foray into computers, including but not limited to: design, full-stack engineering, network engineering and technology consulting.

OBJECTIVE

Everyone wants the perfect job, and I am no exception. I strive to find a forward thinking company where I can continue to expand my experience and satiate my passion for technology, design and interaction. The ideal company would have an appreciation for the passionate, multi-faceted and creative "geek". I would love to work for an organization that has the capability to change the world, humanity, and universe for the better.

WORK HISTORY

FULL STACK DEVELOPER, DIRECTOR OF INTERACTIVE, CREATIVE AND TECHNOLOGY GENERALIST
2011 – CURRENT

BARKER + CONSOLIDATED CONTENT COMPANY

Created, designed, developed and implemented multiple interactive solutions, including multiple qualification and eligibility quizzes as well as real-time PDF generation, digital signing integration, UGC portals, microsites, landing pages, and digital OOH experiences. Provided remote, cloud and on-premise technical support, engineering and custom business software development. Engineered and maintained performance optimized AWS hosting solutions for high traffic websites. Clients included Bausch and Lomb, Procter and Gamble, NYU, ION Television, PDI Healthcare, Roche Bobois, Miele, IDB Bank and SlimFast.

CREATIVE AND TECHNOLOGY GENERALIST, DIRECTOR OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY
2006 – 2010

MONSTER MEDIA

Created numerous interactive advertisements using Flash, WPF, OpenCV, and custom algorithms. Clients included JC Decaux, National CineMedia, MTV, YouTube, Kraft, Target, Disney, TravelZoo, MetroPCS and more.

Other projects included a real-time analytics engine for Flash which is now implemented in all new content; an AJAX rating, approval and filter system for incoming user generated content to be marked as valuable or safe, or discarded; a second iteration of the back-end for monitoring the remote systems; and work with Gumstix and Arduino chip-on-module systems.

Architected a content delivery system utilizing the BitTorrent protocol, including a management interface that is used to create and assign content packages to remote systems.

Designed and developed a complete systems monitoring back-end to provide information and status updates nearly real-time, including projector and system status monitoring. Created live web interface for all systems on a single page. Server components were written in C#, Ruby, PHP, MySQL, and Apache. A lightweight network protocol was used to ensure communication across even problematic wireless connections.

SENIOR SOFTWARE ARCHITECT, DESIGNER, DEVELOPER, FIELD ENGINEER, NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR
2001 - 2006

F4W, INC.

Designed and developed software suite that dynamically updates user lists and enables communication between various devices within wireless networks without reliance on a centralized server. Various types of communication including text-based messaging, file transfer and audio / video communication are some of the primary features.

Developed software which collects video from cameras connected to wireless mesh-networks, using numerous protocols. Presets can be created by administrators for easy access to pre-defined groups of devices while in the field. Primary intended use is for first-responders in areas where communications infrastructure has been compromised and/or destroyed.

Software patents for both methodologies (#20070200914 and #20090238096) were granted in 2009.

"Awesome work...went above and beyond for me. He can solve ANYTHING."

ryancomvw

"Fast communication, quick responses, excellent job. Thanks Larry!"

daveboheny

"It's no longer a wonder why Larry is so highly rated. AWESOME job he did for us! I don't know how he competes with overseas talent, but he does...and is a better communicator than most, so his Orlando, FL locale is an added benefit. Thank you Larry for everything. We are extremely pleased!"

bmfwebmaster

"Larry was able to give me what I needed. I like his solution. Gave him an early bonus of 25% as extra incentive... Written in VB, I was able to build on the source he sent. Thanks, Larry, for a job well done! I'll keep you on my short list, and likely steer more business in your direction."

vw389018vw

"Was very quick, and very well coded. Code worked flawlessly!"

chrisodea

"Graphic was very well done. Good communication through vWorker as well. Will use again in the future."
